

NO to the Tory Anti-Union Bill!

The government is determined to shift the balance of power in the workplace further in favour of employers and get the Trade Union Bill through Parliament with as little scrutiny as possible. We must not let them get away with it.

If the Trade Union bill becomes law:

- New legal hurdles will make it much harder for unions to organise strikes
- Employers would be able to use agency workers to undermine the effectiveness of strikes
- There will be further restrictions on picketing
- Unions' ability to campaign will be limited

We have forced some concessions from the government. As the Trade Union bill enters the House of Lords for consideration, let's push for this unfair, unnecessary and undemocratic bill to be defeated:

- Get involved in your Union's campaign against the Bill
- Post your opposition to the TU Bill on Facebook and Twitter using the hashtag #heartunions
- Sign the petition at: <https://campaign.goingtowork.org.uk/petitions/david-cameron-don-t-threaten-the-right-to-strike>. Over 60,000 people have already signed.

Unions are the voice of Britain at work. More than six million people have joined a union – from nurses to checkout assistants to lorry drivers to airline pilots.

Unions and their network of workplace reps help working people every day. In workplaces all over Britain there are unions making sure we are safe at work, protecting our jobs, pushing for higher pay, and helping us get learning and training.

Unions help workers get together, stop people being treated unfairly and get a better deal from their employers.

They are there for you when times are tough, even providing free legal advice if you need it. There are lots of discounts and offers for union members too. And every year they help more than 200,000 people get the training and learning opportunities they need to move on in their career.
