National demonstration Saturday 18 March, noon Portland Place, London W1A

Saturday 18 March is a global day of action marking UN anti-racism day. It takes place in the wake of the election of Donald Trump as US president. Opposition to Trump has gone global with a world-wide wave of protests.

It also takes place just as Theresa May says she will invoke article 50 to trigger “Brexit”. May’s government is keeping the question of immigration at the centre of British politics and continues to scapegoat migrants, refugees and Muslims. We saw a spike in racist attacks and hate crime after the EU referendum.

There is growing support for the far right across much of Europe while refugees are being abandoned to destitution, drowning and exploitation.

But at the same time a progressive movement is growing – with huge, inspiring, global Women’s Marches, the Black Lives Matter movement and many acts of solidarity with refugees.

Together we can turn back the tide of racism. Let’s make this year’s anti-racism day demonstrations the biggest yet.
